The first case to come to jury trial this time was that of Daniel H. Tripp, charged with felonious assault, to which he pleaded not guilty.

The witnesses for the state were: Dr. Chellis on whom the alleged assault was made by Tripp, when Dr. Chellis tried to pass Tripp on the highway as he was on his way to visit a patient; Samuel Blazo, telephone operator at Kazar; John E. Hadlock, Mrs. Ohehli, Henry French of Portland and Charles W. Young, trial justice. The case was laid over one day for witnesses to arrive for the defence, none had arrived, so the defendant took the stand and told his story. His attorney, Alton C. Wheeler asked that the case be left until afternoon trains arrived but the request was not granted. After instructions the jury retired for decision returning a verdict in forty-five minutes of "not guilty."

This case was tried at the last term of court and the jury disagreed.
William Thomas of Rumford charged with keeping a gambling house, pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs and is in default of payment, 30 days imprisonment in jail.

He also pleaded guilty to an appeal case for single sale of liquor. On the liquor cases he was sentenced to 30 days in jail. The assault case was continued.

E. O. Penley of Paris pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with giving a worthless check for $44.00 to J. E. Brown of Albany, on the 17th day of January, 1914.

Willis E. Powers of Norway was arraigned on an indictment found at the March term, 1913, charging the embezzlement of $35.00 from the Singer Sewing Machine Co., for which he was agent. He pleaded guilty.

William McLeod of Rumford pleaded not guilty to an indictment charging him with stealing ten hens from a hen house and one pig from another stable.
Fred Russell of Rumford pleaded guilty on an appeal case for intoxication, and on representation of his counsel, Mr. Stearns, that he had taken medical treatment for what was virtually a physical infirmity, the case was on motion of County Attorney Dyer continued for sentence, and he was allowed to go.

Joseph Paradis of Rumford retracted his plea on an appeal case for keeping and depositing liquors. Mr. Stearns appeared in his behalf. County Attorney Dyer stated that the man was a persistent violator of the law. Judge King imposed a sentence of fine of $100 and costs of $16.85, and sixty days in jail, and sixty days additional if fine is not paid.

Harry Brandt of Rumford pleaded not guilty of assault with intent to kill on Jack Murray, on the first day of January in 1914.

The assault occurred at a camp of the Berlin Mills Co., where a lumbering operation was being conducted, on Big Brook, a tributary of the Magalloway, in Township No. 5, Range 4, known as Lynchdown. Jack Murray was foreman of the crew, and Harry Brandt was at work there.

Jack Murray, the woods' boss, Aaron Brown, cook at the camp, another Jack Murray, a workman, were witnesses for the State. Murray and Brandt had an argument in the morning whether Brandt was to have his car fare paid. Later when Brandt came to the cook room he asked for something to make bandages of, saying he was afraid he had breached himself. It was claimed Murray jokingly told the cook to ask him if he breached himself shivering. This led to trouble and the men were separated.

Brandt immediately went out through the digle into the bunk room, got his revolver from his kit, came back to the door of the cook room, opened it and fired a shot from the revolver. The bullet went through the sleeves of Murray's shirt near the shoulder, cutting through the skin and making a scratch some two inches long on the outside of the arm.

Murray went to the office and had the wound dressed, came back to the cook room and at his dinner with the other men and then took his kit and started down the road. He was arrested the next day by Deputy Sheriff Landry.

Brandt's story was somewhat different, claiming Murray struck him, used unprintable language and threatened to kill him with a club.

Judge King in charging the jury gave them the forms of four verdicts, while the next day by Deputy Sheriff Landry.

Can You Doubt It?

When the Proof Can Be So Easily Invested,

When so many grateful citizens of Norway testify to benefit derived from Doan's Kidney Pills, can you doubt the evidence? The proof is not far away—it is almost at your door. Read what a resident of Norway says about Doan's Kidney Pills. Can you demand more convincing testimony?

C. E. Bradford, prop. laundry, Main St., Norway, Me., says: "Sometimes I had a dull pain through the small of my back, together with a tired feeling. I couldn't rest well. When a friend advised me to take Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a supply at Stone's Drug Store. After I used two boxes, the pains left and there was a great improvement in every way. I have had no trouble since."

If your back aches—if your kidneys bother you, don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—ask distinctly for Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mr. Bradford had—the remedy backed by home testimony. 50c all stores. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

The Herald of Spring.

Written for the Advertiser.

I listened for thy voice along the hills,
And in the valleys by the bubbling brook,
Where clustering violets wake at spring's first call.

I waited in the hidden forest nook,
Ah! bluebird gay! none could mistake thy call,
With glint of wing like sword of steel along,
We seek thee for the joy thy notes awaken.

We love thee for the freshness of thy song,
When first the downy willow buds awake,
We listen for thee for the joy thy notes awaken,
Yet, while the winter's cold was loth to leave,
Thy happy Easter song thou didst delay.

And now! Spring awake with bounteous gifts,
Because I hear thy voice among the trees,
I see small, frail flowers of May awake,
Like dreams of joy in the soft-sighing breeze.

Welcome, all peace, once more within the breast,
To realize our brightest dreams of May;
Cast barriers down, awake to life and light,
The bird comes and brings glad news today.

JENNIE E. SNOW KIMBALL.

An Artificial Pond.

Part II.

This sketch may not be very interesting to your readers, but I thought I would add just one more. This little pond or lake was taken for a very different purpose; they had a big tent meeting in the city of Des Moines, Iowa, nearby the capitol. Quite a number were to be baptized. I wanted to go, but it was some half a mile to this little pond, but a kind friend brought a nice carriage around for me to go.

There were three ministers to administer this ordinance. One was stationed at the upper part of the pond, one in the center, and one at the lower part. I counted 100 persons who were baptized in the little pond that day. There were two small tents near by for them to go into and change their clothes.

The songs of praise and prayer were indeed very inspiring, and everyone seemed to be so very happy. I was a happy day, and one could for a little forget the sorrows and heartaches of this life that come to us all at times, as we journey on to the end of life.

Before we left the city of Des Moines there came a day when we could all go into the State House, and I wish I could describe to you this truly magnificent building. It was finished inside with different shades of marble, black walnut and ebony. I wanted to go up the spiral stairs, and step out on the platform which encircled the circle dome. As I looked down on the streets, the men looked like little boys and the horses like colts. I was so "far up in the world."

As we traveled on the cars, the three little glided and big bright domes could be seen for miles, and miles, and the bright rays of the sun so reflected them that the domes looked like ball of fire.

The region there is so level, nothing to intercept the almost infinite view each way as we rode along. I can never forget it.

This was in the central part of Iowa, in the northern part are what are called Walled Lakes, because they are bordered by boulders.

I saw in one field, 200 acres of corn all ready to be cultivated, and horse teams working there.

To compare this farming with what we see in Maine, really made me think of my childhood, farming beside an old stump, with a little patch here and there for a field of grain; not more than the length and breadth of my apron, but this is not to say one word about our farming here. The West is the place to do farm work and make it pay.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the new remedy was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, Ohio is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and the system. It cures the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case that fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Retired Georgia Planter's
Advice To Kidney Sufferers.

Regarding the wonderful curative merits of your Swamp-Root, I cannot say too much. After suffering severely for three years or more with severe pains caused by weak kidneys, I was finally induced to try Swamp-Root through a testimonial I read in one of our newspapers. I was in such a condition that I was obliged to arise from my bed six or eight times every night. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and before it was used I felt so much relief that I purchased a one-dollar bottle and by the time this was taken the old pains had left my back and I could sleep the whole night through. I am a retired planter, 70 years of age, and owing to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, I am in the best of health and feel like a boy. I am always glad to recommend Swamp-Root to those who are in need of it.

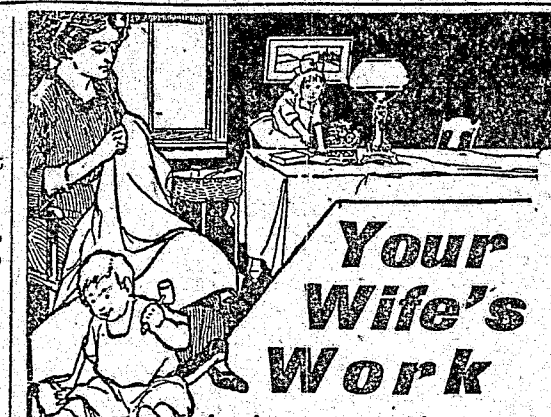

Sincerely yours,

is just as trying and important as your own and perhaps more tedious—but is her strength as great?

Women who are nervous and fretful and easily fatigued promptly gain strength and natural energy by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals because it is essentially nourishment—not a drug that stupefies or alcohol that stimulates—there is pure, rich medical nourishment in every drop which nature appropriates to enrich the blood and uphold the latent forces of the body.

Probably nothing is more popular with physicians for just such conditions than Scott's Emulsion.

Avoid substitutes called "wines," "extracts" or "active principles"—they are not cod liver oil.

Supreme Judicial Court

Guilty of assault with intent to kill and murder; guilty of assault with intent to kill only; guilty of assault and battery; and not guilty. The case went to the jury late in the afternoon, and after being out an hour and a quarter they returned a verdict of guilty of assault with intent to kill.

Max Lofchie, a Hebrew junk dealer of Rumford, pleaded guilty to receiving stolen property, and was sentenced to three months in jail. The respondent had been buying metal of a gang of boys known to themselves as the "Junkers," who were stealing the junk from the mills.

County Attorney Dyer moved for sentence on a nuisance indictment against E. Lufkin of Rumford, to which the respondent had pleaded guilty at a former term of court, and which had been filled. Mr. Blanchard, Lufkin's counsel, protested vigorously against sentence being imposed in this case, in absence of good evidence that Lufkin was engaged in the liquor business. County Attorney replied that Lufkin's livery stable was one of the worst places in Rumford, and the cause of many complaints, and offered to put the officers on the stand to testify to conditions there. Sentence was fixed by Judge King at fine of $100 and costs, and thirty days in jail, and thirty days additional in default of payment of fine.

The trial of Frank Salitino charged with feloniously and wilfully assaulting and killing Joe Rast, was commenced at the opening of Court Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

Salitino pleaded not guilty. The attorneys for Salitino were A. E. Stearns and George Hutchins of Rumford. Jurors were drawn for the case as follows:

A. W. McKee, Fryburg, Foreman.
Wm. E. Stearns, Fryburg.
Warren C. Stover, Brownfield.
Lemont E. Cole, Bethel.
Chas. E. Stearns, Oxford.
Alberto F. Cobara, Bethel.
Arthur S. Jack, Denmark, excused.
Gyrous E. Bosworth, Sumner, ruled out.
John F. Groves, Dixfield.
Wm. E. Morgan, Andover, excused.
M. A. Howard, Andover.
H. R. Robinson, Peru, ruled out.
Percy H. Nevers, Norway.

County Attorney Dyer presented the story to the jurors, that the defendant, Frank Salitino on the night of Feb. 22, 1914, in Rumford was in the company of several Italians, among whom was said Parisi. They all spent the evening together, Parisi being under the influence of liquor and somewhat quarrelsome, made an attempt to use his revolver, and Salitino took it from the said Parisi, but returned it to him after removing the cartridge and Salitino started for his home. While going down Congress street, he heard the click of a revolver and turning saw Parisi in the act of loading his revolver, and said, "one will be enough for you." Salitino secured the revolver and fired it, killing Parisi.

Among the witnesses in the case were Joe Genovetti, Collatio, Peters, Dana L. Pinkham, Fred J. Lord, Frank P. Ellingwood, Harry Everett, the coroner, Jack Dennis, police officer and Chief of Police.

Joe Genovetti testified that about 7 o'clock on night of the shooting, Parisi, Salitino and Collatio came to his shack, and drank a pitcher of beer. Parisi was drunk when he came. While there, trouble arose between Salitino and Parisi. Salitino took a case pin from Parisi's necktie, showed it to the others there and asked Collatio to ask Parisi where his pin was. Parisi felt for his pin, found it was gone and said, "Who got my pin? I will waste the man who got my pin." Collatio says: "I got your pin, you needn't fret about it. I got your pin for you." Parisi got mad and pulled a revolver from his hip pocket and pointed it at Salitino. Salitino jumped and grabbed the revolver and pointed it at the shell and gave it back to him. Parisi looked, and seeing the shells were gone threw the revolver down on the stove in the shack and Salitino picked it up and said: "If you have no use for it, I will take it and give it back to you tomorrow morning." Parisi was still mad and pulled a knife out of his pocket and opened it. Genovetti claimed he told Parisi to put up his knife and tried to keep him quiet.

Parisi and Salitino went into another room and talked for a few minutes, then they drank together and shook hands and all three went out and went up town to the room of Frank Felicetti. On the way up they met Peters and Cowles who went with them. A pint more whiskey was drunk.

Back here Salitino went out into the hall and Felicetti and Parisi tried to force Salitino to take him into Felicetti's beer shop and kill him and cut him in pieces and throw him into the river. Salitino claimed he started for home and Felicetti and Parisi were following him. He claimed that Parisi had something in his hand and he thought it was a knife. Parisi came up, demanded his revolver, took it and pointed it at Salitino, saying, "there is one shell left in it, that is enough for you." He pointed at the revolver and pulled the trigger.

"The jury was unable to agree. Seven were for acquittal and five for conviction, and they were dismissed after eleven hours of deliberation. The prisoner will have another trial.

The court made a final adjournment Thursday forenoon.

Junior Exhibition.
The 9th annual Junior exhibition by the Junior class of the Norway High school was held at the Norway Opera House, Friday evening, March 13. The attendance was very good and the exhibition which was under the direction of Principal Percival E. Hathaway, was one of the best.
The exhibition opened with music by the High school orchestra, followed by prayer by Rev. R. J. Bruce. The Junior class was marshalled to the stage by E. Floyd Haskell.
The High school orchestra which furnished some fine music for the evening was composed of Marion Haskell, Roland McCormick, 1st violin; Esther Pike, Fred Winslow, Albert Bartlett, 2nd violin; Harold Stiles, William McDaniel, 1st cornet; Archie Swift, 2nd cornet; Floyd Haskell, clarinet; Harry Lassalle, trombone; and Gerald McDaniel, drums, with Mary Anna Mealand as musical instructor.
The recitations by the young people were well delivered. Rena M. Wood gave a recitation on being behind time; Winnifred L. McKee on the Woman of Mummies; Dolores B. Gould, the Deacon and the Circus; Linwood E. Fogg on No Excellence without Labor; Ella M. Scribner on The Last Shot; E. Floyd Haskell on The Cry of Personal Liberty; Myra H. McAllister, concerning a man who worried about everything except work or his wife; Christine Leavitt, the story of an Italian singer and the white lily; Howard L. Chick, the story of boiler maker Huntley and his heroism and courage in the boiler room at the time of an accident; G. Ethelyn Lassalle, the story of an elderly couple on board the train filled with a fear that they had boarded the wrong train and Ruth S. Noble gave a series of interesting stories entitled, Under the Spreading Chestnut Trees.
A duet was given by Mildred L. Curtis at the piano and Clara B. Shepard, violin and received hearty applause and an encore was rendered.
The Indian club drill with the young ladies dressed in white with garnet ties, and the Swedish Drill, with the young ladies dressed in many colored dresses, with all colors and kinds of ornaments, were pretty features of the program. Marian Noble played the accompaniment as the young ladies went through the maneuvers of the drills.

We are unable to learn the particulars of this sad calamity further than that the fire was first discovered in that part of the house occupied by Mrs. Pingree, and it seems reasonable to suppose it took in her sleeping room, and being suffocated by the smoke was unable to give any alarm. Don O. Seitz, business manager of the New York World, gave a most interesting and instructive address before the Portland Farmer's Club. The Farm and Its Town was the subject of his address. He compared conditions in this country with those in other he had visited, and brought out the advantage of the poultry that are raised in their own town, and of the need of the farmer developing his land so as to produce what the merchants need in way of farm products. He felt that a better understanding between the farmer and town dweller would bring about benefit to both. The address had many points of interest to the small town and the farming interests.

OTISFIELD.
Oldest Man In Town.
Melvin Shaw is one of the most respected men of Otisfield. He is 87 years old, but isn't that fact alone, with his attendant silver hair, that is the cause of the respect in which he is held. Mr. Shaw is loved by everyone because of the life he has led and the work he has done.
It is something for a man to know that he has reached the age of 87 and is still a useful citizen. That Mr. Shaw is all that and more, is proved by what he has done after passing the four score of years mark.
Only last fall, he went into the woods and there he cut 18 cords of wood. He did not only chop down the trees, but he squared up the stick himself and then helped drag them to the house. When he had got his fire wood home he sawed up the cords and he did this to an exact measure that when it was piled in the wood house a straight edge run up the side of the wood would touch every piece.
It is no uncommon thing for Mr. Shaw to walk to Webb's Mills, a distance of five miles, and back in a day to see his son.
Up to a few years ago, he would walk 20 miles to Standish to attend the quarterly conference. His only companions on those trips were his umbrella and a Bible.
Three years ago, a church in the village here needed shingling. It has a particularly bad pitched roof and few men care to venture out upon it. Yet in spite of this, Mr. Shaw climbed the ladder to the roof, straddled the ridgepole and did what other work might be needed in helping the men shingle the edging. It was at Mr. Shaw's shingling, his excellent condition to the fact that he has always led a temperate life. He never used tobacco and he has never indulged in spirituous liquors. For years, his evening meal has consisted of bread and milk or crackers and milk. Simplicity of living has marked his whole life and because of this his health has always been perfect. He has never had a doctor since he was a child. Strange to say, too, he has never shaved since he was 21 years old. His beard, however, is close cropped.
Mr. Shaw moved to Otisfield from Standish in 1882. His first wife was Sarah H. Sweet and his second Elizabeth Mitchell. Both of them are now dead. Four children were born to the first wife of whom three are now living, the son in Webb's Mills, Mrs. A. T. Winslow of Otisfield and Mrs. Freda Winslow of Auburn. The old gentleman is very proud of the Post card which he holds.

Prominent in Grange Circles.
John Henry Edwards of Otisfield, who was elected master of Oxford Pomona at the December meeting, has Shingling way up through the office of the Pomona. For the past two years, he has been the over-seer, filling that chair well. As the master he is also doing good work.
Mr. Edwards was born in Otisfield, in 1880, the son of Albion Edwards and Lydia Noble Edwards, both of whom are now dead. Mr. Edwards having passed away only last December.
Mr. Edwards' grandfather, John Edwards, came here from New Hampshire when the country in that section was only a wilderness. He made a clearing there and built the first house in that section. He married Eliza Raynes New Gloucester, and they were spared to live together for more than fifty years.
Albion Edwards built a house on the site of this which was first put up there, and this house is still standing. It was owned by Mr. Edwards and his sister Mrs. Eliza Meserve, although for the past eight years they have lived on a place which they own near by the old home farm.
There are about three hundred acres in these two farms, much of it being in woodland. Mr. Edwards usually keeps about twenty head of stock. He has two horses, and he does general farming. The cream goes to Paris creamery. He cuts about fifty tons of hay and fills a part of the land.
Mr. Edwards is a past master of Frederic Robie Grange of Otisfield. He is a member of Norway Lodge I. O. O. F.; also of Crooked River Lodge F. & A. M. At present he is chairman of the School Board of his home town. In politics he is a progressive.
Mr. Edwards is a graduate of North Bridgton Academy and of Eastman Business College, Portland, Me. For many years he has acted as bookkeeper at the Norway cornshop. He is unmarried, and with the exception of two years spent in Massachusetts and Florida, he has lived upon the farm in Otisfield. At present he is alone there, as his sister, Mrs. Meserve, is in a private hospital in Portland for treatment.

EAST OTISFIELD.

CATARRH OF THE THROAT
Is Liable to Produce Catarrhal Deafness
CLARENCE BOWMAN.

A Case of Catarrhal Deafness.
Mrs. Wm. Bowman, R. F. D. 1, Coon Rapids, Iowa, writes:
"Some time ago I wrote you about my little boy, Clarence, five years of age. He was troubled with his ears. They were very sensitive to the touch. They were quite deaf at times. He seemed to be worse after catching cold. I had taken him to doctors, but they did not seem to be able to relieve him, and I was very much afraid he would lose his hearing entirely. He was getting more deaf every day. I wrote to you for advice, and you prescribed Peruna. I began giving it to him, and can now say that he is entirely cured. He is now well and hearty and can hear perfectly."

Catarrh Causes Many Diseases.
Many diseases are caused by taking cold. A cold is very likely to settle in the nose, causing nasal catarrh. It may settle in the upper part of the throat, called the nasal pharyngeal space. In this space are two little tubes called eustachian tubes, that lead to the middle ear.
If the catarrh settles in the pharyngeal space it may follow the mucous membrane through the eustachian tubes into the middle ear. If it does it will cause noises in the ear, and later on be sure to cause deafness.
Catarrh of the throat may follow the eustachian tubes up into the middle ear without causing much concern on the part of the patient. The partial loss of hearing is apt to be overlooked. A person may lose half his hearing before he knows it.
For instance, suppose a man can hear his watch four feet from the ear. If he loses his hearing to the extent that he can only hear the tick of his watch two feet from the ear he may not suspect it at all. His hearing is good enough for ordinary purposes. He goes on without the slightest suspicion that he is losing his hearing. He may have ringing in the ear, or cracking and snapping sounds in the ear, or a feeling of pressure in the ear, but he is not aware that he is losing his hearing.

Testing the Hearing.
It is a good thing to test your hearing with a watch. First hold the watch against your ear, then move it gradually away from the ear and see how far away from the watch you can actually hear it tick. Try it on the other side and see if both ears are alike. If you find that you are unable to hear the watch on both sides alike and at a distance of four feet from the ear, you may know that deafness has already begun. You should begin taking Peruna at once. Gargle the throat with cold, strong salt water, as directed in the "I'lls of Life," sent free by Peruna Co., Columbus, Ohio. Persist in this treatment until a cure is effected.
The Best Way to Gargle.
Sometimes catarrh of the nasal pharyngeal space will cause an accumulation of secretions in the throat, that completely fill the space. Unless these secretions are promptly removed by frequent gargling with Peruna, they may be formed. Once formed the polyp or adenoids, as they are sometimes called, will require a long time with the gargling to remove. Gargling according to the proper method will sometimes remove polyp or adenoids, and no surgical operation is required.
In order to understand exactly what is meant by proper gargling send for a free copy of the "I'lls of Life." During the whole course of gargling Peruna must be taken according to directions on the bottle.
People who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets.

BETHEL.

Some Local Advantages.

While other towns are being "boomed" by their citizens, there is no good reason why Bethel should not stand well up on the list, among the attractive summer resorts, an all round good place to live in and develop good business interests. There are very few towns which have more interesting scenery or more beautiful drives than Bethel. Bethel Hill with its high altitude, pure air and abundant supply of mountain spring water, is unrivaled as a place for the feeble to regain health. To the traveler, seeking rest for a day or night, Bethel Inn or Maple Inn offer the sojourner all that he can desire, either in an up-to-date city hotel, or in a first-class medium hotel home.

The view of the mountains from Bethel the White Mountain group, only twenty-five miles away and range after range of other mountains stretching away in the distance, making a picture of beauty, never to be forgotten. Those who come once, long to come again. The broad Androscoggin river winding its way among the mountains and hills making a graceful sweep up to the edge of the village, adds to the beauty of the scenery while furnishing a great water way for the business interests of the State.

The travel from the lakes, via of Upton centers at Bethel for railroad connection. The auto route from the White mountains and other portions of northern New Hampshire is through Gorham to Bethel and Portland and Poland Springs. As a place for business Bethel offers a fine location on a line of the great through railroad from Boston and Portland to Chicago and the west, where trains are running daily each way connecting the cities of the Atlantic Coast with those of the Pacific and great Northwest.

Bethel is a center of trade for a large section of surrounding territory. As it is in the midst of a wood-growing country, and where numerous wood industries are in active operation. Just now a chair factory with machinery, on the rail road line near the depot, is to be sold to close up an estate, furnishing a good chance for some one to enter into business.

Bethel has been one of the quiet steady going towns of the State, but has a future before it of larger prosperity than it has ever known.

It needs just now a little effort on the part of its citizens to "boom" the town and the future will back up the boom.

Morrill's Mill at the foot of Mill hill in this village, is now among the things of the past. The property was bought by the owners of the village, and would like to remain in Bethel and near home, but for want of employment are compelled to go elsewhere. Thus we lose much of the strong, able young manhood, which in years to come would be a great help to the town.

A town that is not growing is losing ground, going back. In these days when there is not alive with valuable manufacturing interests, is playing a losing game and must sooner or later go to the wall. Ambition dies, life grows worthless and a deadly atmosphere pervades the whole community.

It is unfortunate for Bethel that it has so little to offer to young men or others who are willing to work and would like to remain in Bethel and near home, but for want of employment are compelled to go elsewhere. Thus we lose much of the strong, able young manhood, which in years to come would be a great help to the town.

A town that is not growing is losing ground, going back. In these days when there is not alive with valuable manufacturing interests, is playing a losing game and must sooner or later go to the wall. Ambition dies, life grows worthless and a deadly atmosphere pervades the whole community.

Blanche came home for dinner and said "Mr. — came along as I came out of the school room and lifted his hat and said, 'Little girl don't you want a ride?' A gentleman is welcome everywhere. His wife was a pupil of ours in Bethel on Bird Hill in 1887, and was a lady at school and is one now. We will write the names and ages of scholars then:

Harry Field, 10 years of age.
Bessie Thomas, 11 years of age.
Angie Thomas, 8 years of age.
Mamie E. Jordan, 12 years of age.
Frank E. Carpenter, 8 years of age.
Gladie Stewart, 9 years of age.

Harry Jowers, who is working for Guy Thurston in Errol, N. H., has been home a few days and has returned.

Here is a joke to laugh at—Being unable to find a seat in an overcrowded train, a large woman went into the smoking car and sat down by the door, the man next to her, absorbed in his newspaper, kept on smoking. "I was foolish enough to suppose," said she glowering at him, "that some of the men in here, at least, were gentlemen." Pardon me, madam," he answered politely, offering her a cigar.

"Akin to Both"—An Irishman fresh from the Emerald Isle entered a car where all the seats were taken. On one seat an Englishman, his dog occupying the seat next to him. Walking over the Irishman removed the dog to the floor and took the seat himself. To hide his temper the Englishman turned and looked out of the window. "That is a fine pup of yours, what breed is he?" asked Pat, eager for conversation. "Half Irish and half fool," snapped the Englishman. "Well bedad and the scalpless is akin to both of us," chuckled Pat.

"At the Grange meeting Thursday evening the first and second degrees were conferred on seven candidates. It was voted to have an all-day meeting, March 28. Pleasant Valley Grange, West Bethel and Albany Grange are to be invited. The third and fourth degrees will then be conferred on nine candidates. Dinner will be served and a program will be prepared for the afternoon.

One Bitter Memory of Childhood Gone

Castor Oil is Tasteless Now.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil is Pure. Yet Without Taste or Smell.

Now that castor oil is tasteless, a perfect laxative has arrived.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil, a new product of the Kellogg oil mills, is so absolutely without taste or smell that even the children do not object to it. Good bye, drugs and pills.

Castor Oil has come into its own again. Doctors have always recommended it.

The Kellogg way of making it does not take a single bit of good out of castor oil; rather it purifies the oil and makes it more effective.

Kellogg's Tasteless Castor Oil does even better work than the old-fashioned kind. Sold at all drug stores in 25¢ and 50¢ bottles, not in bulk. Ask for it by name or you may be given the old kind, mixed with flavor.

The signature, Kellogg's, is on every bottle, in a green castor leaf trade mark.
